CITY ITEMS.

TANNING LEATHER.—The attention of our readers is directed to an advertisement in the TRIBUNE of to-day of an important invention in the process of tanning leather. It is worthy of attention.

FAST TIME.—McNally & Co., Theatre building, had on their counter, last evening, at six o'clock, Monday's New York dailies, as also Sunday Dispatch, Courier, Atlas, Mercury and Times. This is the quickest time ever made.

FAIR.—There will be a Fair held in the basement of the A. M. E. Church, corner of Jackson and Buffalo streets, commencing on this evening and continuing on Thursday and Friday evenings. The public is invited to attend. Admittance fifteen cents—children ten cents.

BUILDING BLOWN DOWN.—On Monday afternoon, a three story frame dwelling, in process of erection at Cleaverville, was blown down. The building was owned by Dr. Sumner, and four men at work upon it at the time narrowly escaped injury.

A GENEROUS ACT.—Mr. Ordway, of Ordway's Vocalists, has very kindly given up Metropolitan Hall for the concert of the Northwestern Saengerbund, on Thursday evening next, refusing to accept anything in the way of compensation for his unavoidable loss. It is a generous act, for which the vocalists will be remembered.

HELD TO BAIL.—The young men, Washburn Higham and Henry J. Leonard, charged with hiring a horse and buggy of Wright & Currier and selling the same, were brought before Justice Milliken for examination, and after a partial hearing of the case were committed, in default of $600 bail each, for further examination. The property has not been recovered.

ANOTHER TRAIN FOR FULTON CITY AND BELOIT.—The Galena and Chicago Union Railroad Company has placed two additional trains upon that road, for the accommodation of passengers. One leaves this city for Fulton at 8:15 P. M., reaching the Mississippi at 2 A. M. The other leaves Beloit for this city at 6:30 A. M., arriving here at 11:10 A. M., and returning, leaves this city at 3:30 P. M.

WATER PIPE DAMAGED.—We learn that the Water Pipe across the North Branch at Chicago Avenue is supposed to be broken or defective, as it leaks out all the water let into it. The pipe is of boiler iron, twenty four inches in diameter, and cost about $30,000. It will probably be necessary to raise it for repairs, causing considerable delay.

CHICAGO MUSICAL INSTITUTE.—This evening Mr. Cady commences an evening session at Bryant & Stratton's College, at 7 1-2 o'clock, to accommodate those who cannot attend in the day-time. The first hour will be devoted to the cultivation of the voice, the second to harmony and musical composition.—Lectures this evening free to all.

LIGHTNING.—On last Sunday very heavy claps of thunder were heard in this city. The lightning struck a house on West Madison street. We did not learn the extent of the damage, if any, that was done. On the same day a hog was struck by lightning in Waukegan while standing in the open air, and instantly killed.

THE BURGLARS COMMITTED.—The men arrested upon a charge of being implicated in the burglary at Mr. Newman's house, in Wells street, were brought before Justice Milliken yesterday and committed for further examination until the 20th inst. Their names are John T. Bigley, Michael Moran, John Gaffany and Owen Pettit. All but Bigley—the one who shot Newman, had their bail fixed at $800 each, but failed to obtain sureties. Bigley is held to await the result of Newman's injuries, who at last accounts was very low, and but little prospect of recovery.

EDS. TRIBUNE.—In the Democrat of this morning there appeared an article in which my name was brought before the public. I deem it unworthy even a passing notice from me, farther than to say that the "P.S." is entirely false. The unfortunate man in whom I have taken a motherly interest, has never confessed to me or any one else, "that he murdered the Frenchman," or "that he met him on the road," and the Frenchman told him he had money, or that he knocked him down with a club and robbed him. MARY B. DAVIS.

Chicago, June 16, 1857.

A PATENT BOMB SHELL.—An old man from the country was swindled out of $150 yesterday, by the old "patent safe and ball game," now known as the "Sebastopol patent bomb shell operation." The operators induced him to take a walk out to the Cemetery, where they managed to borrow $150 dollars from him to bet on opening the bomb, and gave him a bogus check on R. K. Swift & Co., for $500. After getting the money they sloped. The rascals have not yet been caught.

SAD ACCIDENT.—On Monday evening a sad accident occurred at the crossing of the Michigan Central and Michigan Southern railroads. A train, bound for this city, with twenty cars containing Norwegian emigrants, came to the crossing and halted for a moment, in obedience to the rule, when a large number of the passengers jumped off—when the train started they commenced getting on board, and a young lad named Johann Alten Holend fell under a car and was killed, his head being shockingly mangled. Coroner Hansen held an inquest, and the body was buried yesterday. No blame attached to those in charge of the train. The bereaved parents left for the west yesterday evening.

LADIES BEWARE.—We have no prudish objection to hoops of moderate size. On the contrary they are in every respect preferable to the dozen or twenty skirts which they have superseded, being lighter, cooler, and more graceful in appearance. But the excessive rotundity is getting decidedly inconvenient. One can hardly shake hands with a fashionable lady in consequence of the very "respectful distance" interposed by these haystack skirts, and as for any nearer approach—it is as vain to attempt it as for Tantalus to touch the tempting fruit. But, ladies, a whisper in your private ear. Are you aware that here in Chicago, the broader the skirt, the narrower the line between the Saint and the Cyprian; and that the women who wear the largest "hubits" are generally the loosest in them?—FACT.

COUNTERFEITERS COMMITTED.—The two men, James Adams and Jacob Clayhouse, arrested on Monday by Capt. Bradley's force, for passing counterfeit fives on the Chippewa Bank of Pepin, Wisconsin, were brought before Justice Milliken yesterday, and fully committed for trial in default of $1200 bail each.

Although these fellows had operated but a portion of one day, they had managed to circulate about $100 of their counterfeit bills. Their plan was to purchase some small article, pay for it with a counterfeit bill, receiving the change in good money; and when arrested their pockets were filled with cotton hose, handkerchiefs, pieces of soap, tooth brushes, bottles of perfumery, etc.

YELLOW FEVER IN NEW YORK.—Yellow fever, says the N. Y. Tribune of Saturday last, "is at our very doors: it is at the Quarantine, and an infected ship is at the Atlantic Docks. It is not known that the infection has caught in the city, but it is known that sailors from infected vessels have got into the city."

It seems that the captain of the brig Lucy Heywood from Trinidad, in passing the Quarantine, secreted two of his passengers who were sick of yellow fever, and sailed his vessel up to the dock. He lost several men on the voyage from the same disease.

The sanitary regulations of New York are in a very bad condition to prevent yellow fever. Should the plague get a foothold in that filthy city, the terrible mortality of Norfolk, multiplied fifty fold, may be experienced. And it is no great stretch of the imagination to suppose that the infection could be carried to this city. Is Chicago in a proper condition to meet such emergency? In time of peace be prepared for war, is a maxim that will hold good in sanitary matters as well as in military.

AN IMPROVEMENT UPON THE STEAM ENGINE.—We yesterday, at the invitation of Mr. James H. Lord, Chief Engineer, visited the Propellor, Louisville, Capt. Caldwell, for the purpose of witnessing the working of Corliss and Nightingale's patent apparatus for operating the slide valves of steam engines. This is a new invention designed to prevent the great waste of steam necessary under the old method of working the valves. The apparatus is a simple one, and as applied to the engine of the Louisville, is said to work admirably, causing a saving of nearly one half the amount of fuel.

We have not space here to present a detailed description of the Corliss apparatus, even if it were possible to make it intelligible without engravings, but will simply state that the most important parts of a steam engine, and that which requires to be most perfect is the apparatus for opening and closing the passages admitting steam to and receiving it from the cylinder. The arrangement at present in ordinary use is very imperfect, the principal defect being what is known as "wire drawing." In the Corliss patent all "wire drawing" of the steam at the valves is prevented by means of the sudden ... [illegible] ... steam engines in our city, and those who use them will be well repaid for any time spent in visiting the Louisville, lying at Munger & Armour's dock, and witnessing the operation of her engine. The Buffalo Courier published the following in reference to the Corliss engine, which shows a great saving of fuel in its operation over the old plan:

We saw a Corliss Engine, manufactured by the Buffalo Steam Engine Works, in operation yesterday at Eaton & Co.'s Planing Mill on the corner of Court and Hospital Streets. It has displaced what was considered a very superior stationary engine, and was put in under a guaranty that it would effect a large saving of fuel and furnish all the power that was requisite, which the old engine failed to do.

To ascertain the amount of saving, a record of the fuel consumed by the old engine was kept for six days from the 24th of March, with the following result: Baskets of shavings burned 2,208; cords of wood 11½. The new engine in six days from the 18th of April consumed 1,831 baskets of shavings, and no wood. The old engine in four days used 177 casks of water; the new one, in the same time, only 98 casks. The average pressure of steam carried by the old engine was 81 pounds to the inch, while the new engine, ... doing the same work, has averaged but 50 pounds.

THE HOTEL THIEVES.—Yesterday afternoon, Richard D. Jourdan, William Moore, Robert Collins, Richard Smith and Thomas Donahue were brought before Justice Milliken for examination. These are the young men arrested by Lieut. Nichols for robbing hotel rooms. Moore was discharged, and the others were committed until Friday next for further examination, in default of $500 bail each.

This gang stopped at the Hamilton House and in the possession of one of them, Donahue, was found a valuable gold watch and chain which had been stolen on Monday night from the room of Mr. Doane in that hotel. Mr. Doane lost at the same time $70 in bank bills, some clothing, etc., which has not been found. This gang is from St. Louis, and have been watched by the police for over a week. Collins, the leader of the gang, is not apparently over twenty years of age, and seems to be quite intelligent. He is said to be an experienced thief, however.

THE VAGRANT ACT.—At a time when it is certain that a gang of desperadoes are in the city, bent on mischief of whatever sort they can find to do, would it not be well to put the vagrant laws strictly in force? These scoundrels may thus be ferreted out—may be compelled to declare their whereabouts—their means of support—their business—their time in the city, and other particulars that honest men do not fear to tell. There are probably hundreds, old offenders and new-comers, who are living off the spoils of the public, not one of whom could establish that he has a fixed place of abode or a legitimate method of earning his bread. They lie around the drinking shops and bawdy houses, where they may have a chance to drug and rob a stranger; they swarm at depots where pockets are to be picked; they are wherever gambling is going on, or wherever crime is to be committed. It is clearly within the scope of authority possessed by the police to enforce the vagrant act in the cases of many if not all these men who have nothing to do. At any rate the experiment should be tried.

ALMOST A BURGLARY.—The large number of burglaries committed in our city during the past two weeks, and particularly the announcements in the papers of yesterday of numerous houses visited by these gentry of the "nippers" and "dark lantern" on Sunday night, have created no little excitement among all sorts of people, and some amusing occurrences have resulted from the alarm caused by these midnight visitors. One of them is worth noting.

At a boarding house on Washington street, four young men occupy a large room on the main floor. In one of the rooms above sleeps a pretty young lady—the belle of the house, and greatly admired by the young gentlemen aforesaid. Before bed time the family had gathered in the parlor, and the conversation naturally turned on the all exciting topic—the nightly exploits of the modern Sheppards, Turpins and the famous "your money or your life" personages. After discussing the Wells street affair and all the lesser ones each one of the company related all the fearful tales within their memory of robberies, murders, etc., not forgetting the Burdell affair, and, after frightening each other until every mouse which scrambled up the wainscoting was at least one burglar, the now comfortable company retired to rest, the mistress of the house fastening up every opening so tightly that the inmates were half smothered.

About three o'clock in the morning, three of the sleepers in the large room were suddenly aroused by the fourth one, who declared that the "belle" aforesaid was at the door, and had informed him there was a burglar in her room. Instantly the three gallants were on their feet, and in a moment they were half-dressed and on their way to capture the burglar. One of them had armed himself with an iron poker, another with the boot-jack, another with the candlestick, and the fourth, the one who raised the alarm, nervously brought up the rear with the only pair of stogy boots owned in the crowd.—Boldly they marched into the lady's room, where they discovered, in one corner, not a burglar, but the young lady herself, who had been aroused by this barbaric invasion of her apartment, and was trying to get her eyes wide enough open to learn the cause of the outbreak. It did not take long for our heroes to comprehend the interesting situation of affairs, and their exit from the presence of the night-robed lady was more speedy than graceful. An explanation followed, and the unfortunate youth who had caused the excitement was forced to acknowledge he had been dreaming, and the empty condition of his purse, and this item, testify that no amount of lager beer sufficed to hush the story up.

HINTS TO THE CHARITABLE, No. 3.—Messrs. Editors:—The usual excuse made by women applying for assistance is, either that they cannot procure work, or are unable to leave their little children. No doubt there is occasionally in both these reasons some degree of truth, but to remove the difficulty and give opportunity and work to all who could be so induced, there should be established at least one House of Industry, on the plan of those in operation in Eastern cities, where women would be provided with work suited to their capacities, whatever they might be. It would require a building in an accessible part of the city, which would furnish accommodations for a kitchen, laundry, work-room, nursery and dining room—if bathing rooms could be added it would be vastly more comfortable. Then poor women could go in the morning, taking with them the children too young to leave, who could be placed in the nursery while their mothers went into either the laundry or sewing room, as they were found best fitted. Very few of them are able to sew, except in the clumsiest manner, therefore only the most ordinary work could be attempted at first, finer being substituted from time to time if required. Women who could find work elsewhere might leave their children in the nursery by paying a trifle from their day's wages, and in that way do something toward the support of the institution. It is not possible here to go into all the necessary details, but no doubt there are many in our city familiar with their operations in other places, and if a few self-denying ladies would undertake it heartily, there would be as little doubt of its ultimate success, as of the present great demand for something of the sort.

One great reason for the utter wretchedness of the very poor is their entire ignorance of the first principles of economy and management. Mothers themselves idle and shiftless, cannot be expected to impart anything better to their children, and therefore each generation becomes more hopeless than the last. It was in some degree to counteract these evils for the future that the Industrial Schools were established, and though they have accomplished much, far more than those who have never looked into the matter suppose. Still, for want of adequate means they have been able to do very little in comparison with what remains to be done. Their plan is to take children of the very lowest class and fit them by education and training for future usefulness and respectability, procuring when possible, homes in the country for many orphans and outcast little ones they so continually discover. Those children who infest our streets in every direction, and by their premature development in wickedness, are beyond the control of the Industrial Schools, should be sent by the authorities one and all to the Reform School, as the only possible method of reclaiming them from a future life of crime and death of violence.

As for the hopelessly vicious and idle, let a petition be presented to the proper authorities, praying for such a change in the management and condition of our Poor House, as that, instead of its being a constant expense to the county, a sink of filth and degradation as it is at present, so that no one, ever so poor, who has a spark of virtue and self-respect left, can enter it, it may become what so many such establishments in good old New England are, really a money making institution, where laws of cleanliness, good order and industry are rigidly enforced; and then let the law require that every one who will not work elsewhere, be placed there and compelled to labor for her own support.

If even all these plans were to be carried into active operation, which is scarcely to be hoped, there would still remain many demands upon our sympathies which must be met as before by assistance rendered from time to time, as the case requires. But by far the better way of dispensing such relief would be to entrust it to the care of the City Missionary, who with the band of assistants and ... [illegible] instruction it is their object to offer. Modern philanthropy has decided that the surest way of converting the world is by taking bread in one hand and the Bible in the other, and that there is great truth and force in the idea, no one who follows it out at all, can for a moment doubt.

It is not possible within the limits of a newspaper article to do more than offer vague suggestions on all these subjects, but enough has surely been said to show that much work is to be done, in which all should take part, and which all must feel that they are in some measure able to accomplish. "Therefore, to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin."

REFORM SCHOOL.—John Ralph, a boy some 14 years of age, an organ grinder, was found on Wells street, fast asleep. He was sent to the Reform School.

LARCENY.—Joseph Murray, a sailor, was committed for trial in default of $400 bail or stealing a watch and some cigars from Sullivan's saloon, No. 6 North Clark street.

STABBING AFFRAY.—Frederick Hughes got drunk in a saloon on North Water street, and into a quarrel with the inmates thereof. He stabbed one man with a knife, inflicting a slight wound, and attempted to stab another when he was arrested and fined $5 and costs.

ROBBERY.—Francis Lynn, went into a boarding house in South Wells street, behaving in a very boisterous manner, and tried to rob a boarder of a watch. On being detected he drew a knife and attempted to escape but was arrested and fined $15. Not having the money, he was sent to the Bridewell.

A ROWDY THRASHED.—Patrick Pheenan, a noted bruiser, got into a fight at the Milwaukee depot with a countryman who thrashed the rowdy soundly and Justice Milliken completed his punishment by fining $25 and in default of payment, sending him to the Bridewell.

ROW.—On Monday night a row occurred at a saloon near the Milwaukee depot, in which a number of persons were engaged. Officer Howe, who interfered, was considerably injured, but he succeeded in arresting the ringleader, but the fellow was released on bail and failed to appear.

INSULTING A LADY.—H. W. Simpson, an employee of various brothels in the city and who had a lot of the cards of such places, went into a lager bier saloon No. 375 State street and handing one of cards to a lady told her she would know where to go when she got tired of her husband. The lady resented the indignity and had the fellow arrested. He was fined $5 and costs.

ANOTHER DEAD INFANT FOUND.—Yesterday about 4 o'clock, a servant girl at the Galena House gave birth to an infant, and at six o'clock she left the house. After she had gone her infant was found in a cigar box in her room. Search was made for her, and Lieut. Nichols arrested her yesterday evening. She says the infant was still born, but this is doubted by the coroner and an inquest will be held to-day.

WE are confident we do our patrons a favor by calling attention to the sale of Carpets and Curtains now being made by W. W. Leonard and S. P. Baldwin at their Carpet House, 124 Lake street. Those who wish to buy a cheap carpet, and save their money, had better avail themselves of the present opportunity.

THE ART OF BEING COMFORTABLE, and making others so, is brought to the highest degree of perfection at Tappen's No. 104 Lake street. Whether in Summer's heat or Winter's cold, it matters not. The grace with which garments bought there fit the form, their superior quality, and the extremely low price at which they are sold, renders it almost impossible for Tappen's customers to feel uncomfortable about anything.

ASTHMA.—Jonas Whitcomb's remedy prepared from a German recipe, obtained by the late Jonas Whitcomb, in Europe. It is well known to have alleviated this disorder in his case, when all other appliances of medical skill had been abandoned by him in despair. COMMERCIAL.

CHICAGO WHOLESALE MARKET.

There was nothing noted in the Flour trade to-day; receipts are a thousand bbls or so daily, with no shipping demand at present rates. The market for Wheat and Corn opened rather firm this morning on 'Change, and large sales of the latter are noted. After dinner, the foreign steamer Europa, with Liverpool dates to the 6th inst., was telegraphed, with slightly lower rates on Flour and Wheat, with heavy Corn market but unchanged prices. New York dispatches show that market to be bearing down, with decline of 5@10c on low grades of Flour, and lower Corn market. This unsettled the market for the day. Freights are unchanged. Weather still wet and sultry, bad for corn heating. The following was the amount of Flour and Grain in store in Chicago Saturday, June 13th, according to the Board of Trade reports:

Wheat, spring, bu	178,199	Flour, bbls	2 662
Wheat, red, bu	14,250	Corn, bu	462,719
Wheat, white, bu	12,250	Oats, bu	34,118

FREIGHTS.—Three propellers were taken for corn to Buffalo at 3½c; the schr Yorktown takes corn to Ogdensburg at 7c; for wheat from Racine to Kingston, 9c was offered. Yesterday the schr St. Albans took corn to Oswego at 8c. Up freights on the canal are now 7c for corn from Pekin and points on the river this side, and down freights are very firm.

WHEAT.—But little done on 'Change: 7,000 bu spring sold at $1,23 on board; 1,000 bu do at $1,23 in store; 800 bu No. 1 red went to mill at $1,41½, and 70 bags inferior red sold at $1,30 delivered; 3 cars of spring also sold at $1,22 in store. This afternoon, owing to slightly lower rates at Liverpool for wheat, only $1,20 in store can be had, and the market depressed.

CORN.—Ever since the 1st of May, a month and a half ago, sales have been transpiring on 'Change for delivery of Corn the last half of June, as well as other periods. The last half of June has come, and the rate of to-day is put far different from the prices paid a month ago for delivery at this time. On 'Change to-day, we heard of sales in the course of an hour of 125,000 bushels of Corn—25,000 bu of it in 7 lots at 68c on board to-day; much of this may have been in the way of settling contracts. One lot we observed was 30,000 bushels at 68c, and another 10,000 at same; on the 5th of May we recollect 30,000 bu selling for the same price, last half June, and the next day 16,000 bu sold at 62c for same delivery. Among the sales was one of 5,000 at 63c; and we recollect a sale of the same amount, made just a month ago, at 63c, one half June; if this be the same lot, a little difference of 4c ₺ bu, or $200, is to be paid on it by somebody. There were other sales—one before 'Change, of 5,000 bu, at 63½c on board; and on 'Change, 10,000 bu at 61c on board Friday, 5,000 bu at 61c on board now, and 3,000 and 300 bu at 60c in store. In the afternoon we heard of no sales, everything being quiet after the steamer's news, and lower market in New York.

OATS.—Only a few small sales transpired on 'Change—500 bu at 48c in store, and 400 bu in bags delivered at 56c. The grain is becoming dry of sale—52c on track in bags is all that can be depended on.

WOOL.—The following, it is supposed, will be about the prices paid here at the start for the different grades of Wool; the variation from these rates will not be great:

Common	30 @ 32
¼ Blood	32 @ 33
½ Blood	33 @ 35
Full Blood	35 @ 37½

At Detroit for wool already marketed, 30c. to 35c. has been paid, or about the same as at the opening last year for the same quality.

Chicago Lumber Market.

TUESDAY, June 16, 1857.

The low rates of grain freights ... between this port and the lower lakes, has caused a large number of the smaller class of grain vessels, and ... large ones, to withdraw from their regular trade, and engage in that of lumber, and dealers have been thus early able to accumulate stocks in their yards for a large trade. The demand for Lumber, however, as well as for Cedar Posts, and other articles, increases, and prospects for dealers better as the season advances. We note a few sales during the past week, which, together with our table of yard prices, will give a fair understanding of the condition of the market, at least as much as can be obtained, for dealers sell just as their necessities dictate, and rates are irregular; and but sales for all cash down. Several sales have been for half cash down, balance in 30 and 60 days, with interest.

LUMBER.—Sales of a cargo of 200 M inspected Saginaw, on Thursday, at $8 50, $13 75, $21 and $27 ₺ m, or $12 50 m ... very superior. Another Saginaw cargo, with little clear, but mostly fencing, flooring, joist and scantling, on Saturday, brought $15 ₺ m through. A cargo of dry Canada lumber brought $7, $11,25, $21 and $28 ₺ m, to run ¼ 1st and 2d clear. A cargo of Saginaw with a good many culls in it was this morning offered for $12 through, or $7, $9, $12, $22 and $28 ₺ m. A cargo of 220 m Green Bay lumber sold for $8, $11, $21 and $28 ₺ m, half cash, balance in 30 and 60 days, on interest; and a canal boat in 4 of Green Bay sold today for $12, cash, as it run from the mill. Yesterday, a cargo of very poor Grand River, (fencing and flooring) sold at $9 ₺ m. For a cargo of Saginaw lumber, $11 through was offered and $12 asked. The cargo of the schr Hiawatha, rafted Grand River lumber, was offered at $10, and another cargo at $10 50 ₺ m.

LATH.—About the same as previously quoted—$2 25@2 50 ₺ m, by cargo.

SHINGLES.—Are yet dull at $2@2 50 ₺ m, by the cargo. At the yards, heavy dealers have put down the rate 25c ₺ m.

CEDAR POSTS.—Sale of a cargo of 12,000 posts at $7 ₺ 100. We quote 7@8c each by cargo, and 10@12c at the yard.

Money Market.

OFFICE OF R. K. SWIFT, BROTHER & JOHNSTON, Chicago, June 16th, 1857.

There has been great activity in the Money market during the past week. Local paper has been freely offered for discount to the bankers, but has not met with much favor generally, except of short date and highest grade. Eastern bills have been in heavy supply, and for several days great difficulty was experienced in obtaining currency for them. In many cases shippers have been unable to procure New York sight drafts for their bills, owing to their employers having drawn in advance, and consequently their drafts are running to maturity with little... For the past few days, the supply of bills is not so large, as a few holders of grain are willing to sell at present prices, and therefore, for the next few days at least, shipments must necessarily fall off. Buffalo bills are now being drawn at from ten to twenty days, making an average of fifteen days. Those of longer date are very difficult to sell.

In short, the demand for good paper offering is large, and the demand rather more limited, but A 1 names are readily disposed of at current rates.

Real estate secured paper continues in good demand with upon change in rates.

New York exchange is very abundant. There is no change in rates. Bankers continue to purchase sight drafts of their regular depositors and correspondents at 1 ₺ c., but from outsiders they refuse to buy over ¾ of 1 ₺c. premium.

Exchange on Boston and Philadelphia is abundant and in good demand.

St. Louis Exchange continues dull.

Gold is very slow sale, and in demand for shipment to New York, except in moderate amount for paying the drafts of immigrants.

Currency is exceedingly scarce and in very active demand. The demand for currency for shipment is very limited.

Land Warrants are in very active demand, with a limited supply.

We annex quotations:

Arrival of the Europa.

HALIFAX, June 16th.

The steamship Europa arrived at this port early this A. M. She left Liverpool on Saturday, the 6th, and brings three days later than by the Vanderbilt.

Parliament, which, at the date of the accounts by the Vanderbilt, was not in session, in consequence of the Whitsuntide holidays, had again assembled, but had not to the time of the departure of the Europa despatched any business of particular note. The debates had been rather tame.

The U. S. steamship Niagara having been inspected by the American Minister, has proceeded to Portsmouth to receive the necessary alterations preparatory to taking on board her portion of the Atlantic Cable, the British Government having kindly loaned the use of the dock yard at that place.

The Liverpool breadstuff market has assumed features of extreme dullness, and to effect sales a slight decline had been submitted to on all articles except corn—the prices of which were maintained.

The intervention of the Holidays with the favorable weather for the crops had been mainly instrumental in this depression of the market.

The Liverpool Provision market quiet, and the prices generally without essential change since the departure of the Vanderbilt. The London money market was without essential change since the 3d inst., and consols closed on Friday at 93½ to 94 for money.

The suspension of Wm. McIntosh & Co., of Manchester, is announced. Liabilities supposed about £1,000,000.

On Friday eve the Commons voted £1,125,000 Sterling in redemption of England's share in the redemption of the Sound Dues.

FRANCE.—The story of an attempt upon the life of the Emperor is reiterated, and the files of the English papers containing reference to it has been intercepted at the French Post Office, —thus giving color to the story.

The Times correspondent says it is doubtful if Cavaignac will be the candidate for Paris at the election.

Count DeMorny previous to his departure from St. Petersburgh, will sign the treaty of commerce between France and Russia.

BELGIUM.—Tranquility is restored. A Brussels letter says that a Cabinet Council had resolved to withdraw the obnoxious bill on charities, and that two or three ministers tendered their resignations, which the King refused to accept.

The Grand Duke Constantine had visited the King of Spain.

Some cheap bread riots had occurred at Grenada. They were suppressed by the troops and four persons wounded. The authorities continued however to take military precautions, and were causing bread to be sold to the poor at a regular rate.

The Mexican question, it is feared, presents very serious difficulties, and by no means near a settlement.

NAPLES.—Barbarities on the part of the authorities are reported, and it is said a revolutionary placard is in circulation, and tri-colored bills of an inflammatory nature had also been freely distributed.

AUSTRIA.—The announcement of Ranetzky's death was premature.

RUSSIA.—The Russian papers say that Russia is about to reduce her army.

PERSIA.—The ratifications of the treaty of peace were exchanged at Belgrade, May 2d.

The Times of Friday evening says: The funds opened at ⅛ per cent. advance, and subsequently increased ⅛ per cent., caused by the arrival of undue vessels from Australia, coupled with better accounts from the Paris Bourse.

Money in the stock exchange market was lower, but in demand at 6½ per cent.

Serious Riot in New York.

NEW YORK, June 16.

Another serious riot occurred in the Park today, in consequence of an attempt by the Metropolitan Police to arrest Mayor Wood and Sheriff Mellet, on a warrant issued by Judge Hoffman, for an assault on Mr. Conover, Metropolitan Commissioner of Streets. The Metropolitan Police while ascending in a body the City Hall steps, were beaten back with clubs by the Mayor's Police, and many of them badly hurt—Capt. Dilks reported mortally wounded. The Park is filled with an excited crowd. The military, it is reported, is to be called out.

Later—Wood Arrested.

The warrant upon Mayor Wood was served this afternoon. He surrendered himself to the Sheriff, and gave bail in $5,000 to appear in answer. The Sheriff surrendered himself to the Coroner. The National Guards were under arms for an hour on the Park and were then released from duty, and left for Boston to take part in the Bunker Hill celebration.

At the affray this P. M., several of the Metropolitan Policemen besides Capt. Dicks were badly beaten. Their recovery is considered doubtful.

Later from Kansas.

ST. LOUIS, June 16.

The Democrat says that Phillips was chosen as State instead of U. S. Senator.

Topeka dates to the 12th say that there was a quorum present in both branches of the Legislature, and they were busy at work perfecting county and township organization.

Gov. Robinson's message had been sent in.

The Legislature had not been disturbed.

Fort Riley correspondence dated June 9th, says that the Chayennes attacked and destroyed an emigrant train 80 miles west of that post on the 6th, killed four and wounded 3. The Indians are in the rear of Sumner's force.

Massachusetts K. N. Convention.

BOSTON, June 16th.

The State Convention to-day re-affirm the Springfield platform, and refused to adopt the Louisville national platform. N. P. Banks received 219 out of 229 votes for Governor, and was then nominated immediately by acclamation. E. Trask, of Springfield was nominated for Lieut.-Governor, and John N. Clifford, for Attorney-General.

Gen. Walker in New York.

NEW YORK, June 16.

Gen. Walker arrived here this evening. He was received at the landing and a salute was fired. The General then entered a carriage drawn by eight horses and was escorted to the City Hall, which added to the already great excitement in the park. An enthusiastic reception was given him. He was then escorted to the St. Nicholas Hotel and will remain in New York for some time.

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.

Frank Thomas, to whom the Governorship of Utah has been offered, has arrived in this city.

The New Orleans mail of Tuesday is received. New Orleans papers give flattering accounts of northern and middle Texas. The prospects of splendid crops of corn, cotton and sugar were never better; in the western part the crops were not suffering.

Letters from the river counties of Virginia and Maryland state that the army worm had made its appearance, and was ravaging all kinds of grain. The farmers were despairing of getting enough for seed.

Before the Supreme Court, in session here, the application for an injunction against the sale of the main line of the public works was argued to-day.

Gov. Pollard protested against the decisions of the Court, and was in favor of the defendants being heard.

WASHINGTON, June 16.

Judge Crawford charged the Grand Jury today, that their duty was to make a full inquiry into the true condition of the election riots. He said they should ascertain the facts and present them in an indicted form. Nothing short of this would satisfy the community.

The laws, he says, must be maintained and enforced, and the rights of citizens under those laws, and the life and full exercise of them without interference or hindrance from any quarter, must be protected by whatever legally authorized means may be necessary for these purposes.

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.

Gen. Walker arrived here at midnight. No stop at the Girard House until 2 o'clock this afternoon, when he will proceed to New York. ... [illegible]

ALBANY, June 15.

The Court of Appeals met to-day. There are 402 cases on the calendar. The Metropolitan Police case will come on to-morrow, with a full bench. It stands last on the calendar, but will be taken up first after the motion.

Francis B. Cutting and Wm. S. Everts are counsel for Messrs. Brown and the other Commissioners appointed by the Governor, and Chas. O'Conner and Judge Edmunds for Mayor Wood.

LOUISVILLE, June 15.

A terrible storm of wind, thunder and lightning passed over this city and New Albany, on Saturday night, prostrating buildings, trees, &c., in every direction.

From Washington.

[Despatch to the N. Y. Tribune.]

WASHINGTON, June 14.

Walker expects to depart to-morrow to attend the Jeremy Diddler demonstration in New York—the expedition is not warlike, but only to raise the wind. It is reported that he had a private interview with the President yesterday. Commodore Vanderbilt's writ is still running.

Commodore Moore of the Texas navy has drawn $12,800 for commutation of back pay. The navy was a phantom, and the payment is a galphin, though according to law.

Mr. Cushing's decision against the validity of the purchase of the Exchange property in Baltimore for a Post Office has been reversed, $193,000 paid, and $70,000 additional stipulated for improvements.

Collision Between Members of the Old and New Police.

A serious collision occurred on Saturday in the Eleventh Ward, between the new and the old police, in the course of which much violence was used. It seems that three of the new police had arrested a drunken rowdy, when two of Wood's officers raised a mob to assist him, and attempted to rescue the prisoner.—The interfering officers were themselves arrested and locked up. An excited mob gathered around the station house, and threatened to burn or tear it down, but the appearance of additional force from other Wards induced them to leave.

Subsequently, another officer of the Metropolitan Police was assaulted by the mob and stabbed dangerously with an ice-pick. The Eleventh is one of the worst Wards in the city, as the criminal history of avenues A, B and C, amply testifies; it is cursed with a horde of the most unscrupulous ruffians, and rolled up the largest vote for Fernando Wood of any Ward in New York. His most useful and obsequious tools in the Aldermen and Councilmen come from this Ward, and it is but natural that here should occur the first bloodshed and riot in his favor.—N. Y. Tribune.

The Vanderbilt's News.

NEW YORK, June 15th.

The Vanderbilt arrived yesterday morning, after a voyage of about ten days and twenty hours from Southampton. She brings news of unusual interest. A serious disturbance has taken place in Belgium. The occasion was the introduction in the Legislative Chambers of a bill on Charitable Institutions, which was regarded as giving too great power to the priesthood. The people thronged into the Chambers with violent demonstrations. Military force was employed to expel them; and in the provincial towns there was an evident readiness to aid the Capital in the threatened insurrection. The hostility was directed against the obnoxious bill and the Ministry by whom it was framed, while we are told the greatest popular affection was displayed toward the King. At the last advices the trouble was over, and the obnoxious bill had been withdrawn.

In Spain, the Chamber of Deputies has also been the scene of unusual excitement. One of the members, Mr. Campoamer, accused the Government of exercising a virtual censorship of the press, none the less onerous because disguised. An immense hubbub followed this declaration, the galleries frantically applauding, and the conservative members as frantically expressing their resentment. It was proposed to expel the offending member, but at our last advices no action had been taken in the premises. It is said that Gen. Concha will certainly be recalled from Cuba. The reason is his too notorious complication in the slave trade. He receives, it is alleged, four ounces of gold for each slave imported—double the bribe paid to any former Captain-General. He will probably be succeeded by Mr. Lorsundi, late a member of the Ministry.

Sophia, the first child of the present Emperor of Austria is dead, aged a little more than two years, and the second is said to be at the point of death. The elections for the French Legislative Body are to take place on the 21st inst.—next Sunday. The Grand Duke Constantine paid to Queen Victoria a private visit of a day and two nights. Parliament had not been in session. There is a rumor apparently groundless, of an attack on Louis Napoleon. At Constantinople a fire has destroyed 1,500 houses. Consols 94 1-8.

DANIELS' New Process of Tanning Leather Without the use of Bark or Bark Liquor.

MR. DANIELS HAVING OPENED AN office in this city for the sale of Rights to use his Patent Process, in the states of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee and Missouri, now offers the same to any wishing to purchase. The advantages of this Process are as follows:

1st. It requires but from 5 to 15 days to tan.

2d. It is cheaper than any other process that will make good and durable Leather, as the outlay for buildings and fixtures is very small, and the material used can be obtained at small expense.

3d. It plumps the hide in a greater degree, gives greater weight, makes softer and more durable Leather, and is susceptible of as fine finish as under the old process.

4th. It is peculiarly adapted to the wants of the West, where Hides are in abundance, but where material for tanning under the Bark process cannot be obtained.

For Samples of Leather tanned under this process, and Certificates of men who have thoroughly tested its application for the past three years, call at the office of the Agency, corner of Lake and State streets, opposite the City Hotel, or address L. W. ... Box 2229, Chicago, Ill.

Minnesota Election.

We have St. Paul papers of the 11th and 12th inst., and think there is no longer any doubt in regard to the Republican triumph, at the recent election. The whole Republican delegation of the St. Anthony district have received their certificates. This is a gain of four members over previous reports. The election of Dr. Foster, Rep., in Dakota county, is confirmed. Smith, Rep., of the same county, was defeated by only three votes. The Republicans carried Rice county by a vote of 403 to 166; Republican majority, 237. This county had been set down as doubtful. The Republicans have also elected the two delegates at large in Scott and Rice counties, which is a gain, as heretofore they had been conceded to the Slaveocrats. In Steele county, the Republican vote was six times as large as the Pro-Slavery vote. In Waseca county, the vote stood—Republican, 700; Slaveocratic, 75! In Winona, the Republicans cast more than double the votes of their opponents. But our side has lost Goodhue by 35 votes, which is a loss on previous calculations; and they have lost one delegate in Hennepin by 15 votes, through foolish personal prejudice of a few persons who let their ill feelings outrun their patriotism. Balancing the gains and losses, we feel sanguine that the Republicans have a good working majority in the Constitutional Convention.

Douglas and Pettit.

It has taken Mr. Douglas longer to arrive at that point; but, at last, he has reached the goal near which Senator Pettit was left when he declared, that the proposition in the Declaration of Independence—"all men are created free and equal"—"is a self-evident lie." He takes a more methodical and elaborate method of expressing his belief; and, what is wonderful for one usually so foul-mouthed, uses more decent language than the Dirty Dog saw fit to employ; but there he is. Like Pettit, who blurted out his "democratic" thought without care for the consequences; like Choate, who got at the same meaning in more ambiguous phrase; like every consistent member of the Democratic party, who dares defend the doctrines latterly avowed by its leaders, in a logical and truthful manner, he repudiates the obvious teachings of the chart of our national liberties, and signalizes the act by the enunciation of heresis, that, at any time before 1848, would have consigned, as they ought now to consign him, to political oblivion. Again, we put in a plea for the Senator. With his associationship and his aspirations, with his loose political principles, with his personal interest in the maintenance of human slavery, we do not see how he could refuse to join Pettit. We quarrel with him because he did not openly do so before—because, when he was preaching Squatter Sovereignty from every stump in Illinois, he did not declare the faith that was in him. But, better late than never. We now know what modern Democracy means.

Work for the Very Poor.

We beg to remind our readers of what our lady correspondent, under the head, "Hints for the Charitable," has neglected to mention—the importance of making some earnest and well directed effort now, for the relief of the poor, during the next winter. Her plan—and no doubt it is a wise and judicious one—is to provide for them a suitable building in which they may work, and work of some remunerative kind for them to do. If her suggestions are adopted, they must be acted upon before the time of distress arrives, or they will certainly fail in the accomplishment of the good that they now seem to promise. Doubtless it would be wise for the "lords of creation" to give this systematic charity exclusively into female hands. The women are more trustworthy and careful almoners than men. They have quicker sympathies, nicer tact, better perceptions of what the poor need; and then they have more leisure to see that their bounty is not misapplied. Following up the idea that our correspondent has set forth, we shall not be considered impertinent if we suggest that the ladies, whose tastes or principles are cultivated in a charitable direction, will find that a systematic effort in doing good—practical, not theoretical, good—will profitably employ many hours that now lie idly on their hands, or are consumed in vanities that are more dreary and unsatisfactory than idleness itself. We will give the price of a new silk as our first contribution toward the institution, if you, Madam, and you, will do what you ought.

Fugitt, the Murderer.

Fugitt, the Missouri-Kansas scalper, lately arrested in Leavenworth, is evidently becoming the scape-goat of the Pro-Slavery party, and will undoubtedly be hanged for the sins of the whole Border Ruffian host. Mr. Fugitt is doubtless a worthy subject for strangling in his private capacity, but it is unreasonable that he should suffer for the offences of all his friends. The Cincinnati Enquirer is down on the luckless Fugitt with particular fury, and "hopes he will swing." It lays stress on the fact that "bail was refused by Judge Lecompte." Murder being a bailable offence with this functionary, its denial in this instance naturally arrests the attention belonging to any other judicial phenomenon. Now that the Border Ruffian press have discovered the fact, that this Fugitt did shoot and scalp an innocent Free State man, at some time during the last Presidential campaign, the prisoner may as well settle his affairs and prepare for his great change. His sacrifice is necessary as a balm to a wounded conscience. After he has regularly "swung" according to the mild exhortation of the Enquirer, we may expect to hear that law and order are still sovereign in Kansas, "it being the true intent and meaning" that scalping should not be a bailable offence and that one scalper should peremptorily "swing."

An Opinion Changed.

When Senator Sumner was set upon and beaten over the head by a bludgeon in the hands of Brooks, the editor of the Southside Democrat, a Virginia sheet, the principles of which are exhibited by its name, chronicled the rascally event thus:

"The telegraph has recently announced no information more grateful to our feelings than the classical caning which this outrageous abolitionist received, on Thursday, at the hands of the chivalrous Brooks, of South Carolina. No punishment is adequate to a proper restraint of his insolence, but a deliberate, cool, dignified and classical caning."

Banks, the author of this paragraph, has lately been Brooksed, though not half as bad as Mr. Sumner was, and the operation has set his organ to grinding quite another tune. His assailant is peppered with paper bullets as nearly red hot as fiery words can make them. What was chivalrous in Brooks, becomes mean, cowardly and brutish in another. Good enough for you.

Democracy and Know Nothingism.

The frequent declaration that Pro-Slavery Democracy is but a proper growth of the soil in which Know Nothingism has root, and that the two are so closely affiliated in theory that they ought to be joined in one yoke, the Border Ruffian journals do not venture to deny. The fact that the Pro-Slavery men of Missouri are running a confessed Know Nothing for Governor of that State, is but another proof that the declaration is true, and that "what is bred in the bone will appear in the flesh."

The "dodge" may serve them a good purpose there, where Democratic hatred of Germans is deep rooted; but it will not advance their cause here, where the courting of Germans is the chase, is just now, the Democratic order of the day.

Straw Paper.

The Cincinnati Commercial of Monday, comes to us printed upon paper, seventy-five per cent. of which is composed of straw. Had the editor not mentioned it, we would not have suspected that the paper was different from what has heretofore been used. It is white, strong and, we might say, [illegible] the purpose admirably well.

Governor Walker on Slavery in Kansas.

He says on this point in his Kansas Inaugural:—"There is a law more powerful than the legislation of men, more potent than passion or prejudice, that must ultimately determine the location of slavery in this country; it is the isothermal line, it is the law of the thermometer, of latitude or altitude, regulating climate, labor and productions, and, as a consequence, profit and loss."

The bald humbug about climate is the last resort of political scoundrelism. Negroes live in every State in the Union. If the "tropical constitution" of the negro, of which he speaks, will stand the climate of Canada, why not of Kansas? Repeal all prohibitory laws against slavery, and wherever a free man of color can subsist, there also a slave could be worked with profit. Why is Illinois a free, and Missouri a slave State? The climate, soil and productions are the same. There are one hundred thousand slaves in Missouri. But for the Ordinance of 1787, there would have been double that number to-day in Illinois.

The climate and productions of Virginia are no more favorable to slave labor, than the southern halves of Ohio, Indiana or Illinois, yet she has fostered slavery for two centuries, until slave-breeding has become the chief occupation of her whites, and the only matter about which her politicians can think, write or speak. Maryland and Delaware have maintained servitude nearly as long, although they are situated in the latitude of frost and snow. Kentucky, for seventy years, has been cultivating her wheat and corn fields with slaves. But this is not all, nor the worst of it. The portion of Missouri where the black population is densest, where slaves most abound, is the northwest corner, which is the highest and coldest part of that State! How will Walker reconcile this stubborn, notorious fact with his "isothermal line" theory?

The climate of Kansas is exactly as well calculated to grow slaves for a market, or to employ servile labor, as that of Missouri, or any other of the border Slave States, and no man knows it better than Walker.

Wherever it is profitable or convenient to employ human labor, without paying wages therefor, there Slaves will be found, unless excluded by positive legal enactment. No matter what such lying demagogues as Robert J. Walker may say about the tropical constitution of the black man, he can live and does live in North America wherever wheat and oats can be grown.

There is a wonderful power of adaptability in the human system. Men changing climate soon become acclimated. A few generations will enable the Anglo Saxon to defy the scorching suns of the West Indies, or the African to endure the cold and snows of New England. A native of Boston, suddenly transported from that city to New Orleans, in dog days, might not be able to withstand the heat; so, also, a negro, taken from the tropics and placed in the midst of an Ontonagon winter, might succumb to the piercing blast. But men of the African race have become seasoned to a Canadian climate, as men of the Saxon race have to a Cuban sun.

What prevents thousands of families in this city from keeping slaves as house servants, coachmen and waiters? Certainly not any isothermal line. The absence of slavery in Chicago can only be ascribed to the law forbidding it, and the moral repugnance of a majority of the citizens to the existence of the institution among them.

In whatever climate a free black or mulatto can subsist, there also a slave of the same race will be found, unless the law puts a veto upon the relation of master and bondman. If Kansas escapes the curse of slavery, it will only be through the powerful, persistent efforts of the Republicans against the slave breeders, the Federal Government, the Supreme Court, and the Democratic party, all combined. Had it not been for the fifty thousand "Abolitionists" who nobly and patriotically sacrificed the comforts of home, threw themselves into Kansas as a garrison, and held it in defiance of fire, sword, famine and death, against the negro breeding and Federal ruffians, the rivets of the slave would long ere this have been permanently fastened upon the laborers of that magnificent domain; and the clanking of hand-cuffs, the crack of the overseers whip, and the cry of the human chattel, would to-day be ascending to heaven, from the plains of Kansas. There was no hope for Freedom in that Territory until the slave breeder and Democratic party were first soundly beaten—the one at the ballot-box in the North, and the other with the cartridge-box in Kansas. The only safeguard for the future, against the spread of the accursed institution, is to be found in the eternal vigilance of Freemen.

Is it Sold or Chartered?

The N. Y. Times indignantly denies that it has "sold out" to the administration, or changed its opinions on the slavery question. But appearances are suspicious. The editor is found dining and wining at the expense of a class of politicians with whom he had not theretofore been known to fraternize, and responds in a speech complimentary to these gentlemen. Thereupon or about those days, long, fat, Government advertisements begin to make their appearance in his columns; his favorite reporter becomes a private secretary of Governor Walker, travels with him to Kansas, and writes back for the Times long laudatory puffs of what his Excellency is saying and doing, mixed with sundry stabs and blows at the Free State leaders. About the same time, extended telegraphic despatches from Washington appear prominently in the Times, cracking up old Buck and his administration to the skies—probably paid for by the Government out of the "Secret Service Fund."

The political leaders of the Times also read very curiously for a Republican paper. In short, putting this and that together, if the Times has not been "sold out" to the Border Ruffian party, it looks very much as if it had been "chartered" to carry pro-slavery freight at least for the season.

Destructive Tornado in Central Illinois—Loss of Life.

Pana, Christian Co., June 14, 1857.

Eds. Tribune:—Our town was visited yesterday afternoon by the most terrific and destructive hail-storm ever known in Christian County. It has destroyed almost everything in its course. It has leveled twenty-five houses in our village! and done serious damage to fifty others, mine among them. Many of the houses left standing are rendered worthless, being riven and shattered. Some of the houses have been taken up so clean and precipitated from their foundations, that you could hardly tell where they had stood. Roofs were carried through the air as if they were straws. A number of new stores just completed were torn into fragments, and the wreck scattered about. The new Presbyterian church was moved some distance, and partially destroyed. The roof of the Illinois Central freight depot was taken off; a large number of cars were hurled by the fury of the wind from the track. Quite a number of persons were wounded by timbers and pieces of buildings thrown through the air by the tornado, and I have just heard a report that a woman and three children were killed by a falling building. Others may not recover from their injuries.

The storm was accompanied with a deluge of rain and a heavy shower of hailstones. The air was dark when the awful tornado broke upon us; it was a terrific scene while it lasted. The elements howled and roared, buildings were dashed in the path of the storm; timbers, rails, boards, roofs and every movable article were hurled through the air. Strong men stood aghast; women and children screamed with terror. Many were hurled headlong to the ground and rolled forward by the merciless element. Some of the more ignorant people supposed the comet was about striking the earth, and was causing all the uproar and devastation. They were awfully frightened, believing as they firmly did, that the last day had come.

Our pleasant town is in a sad plight—shattered, torn and destroyed. Many of our people are left wholly destitute, escaping from their dwellings with nothing but the few clothes upon their backs. All their household furniture and other personal property having been swept away or destroyed by the [illegible]. These poor people are left in a very suffering condition, and are proper objects for public benevolence.

THE PRESBYTERIAN DIVISION.

Opinion of Drs. Fisher and Ross.

Dr. Fisher, of Cincinnati, on Sunday evening last, preached a sermon on the proceedings of the General Assembly, in which he thus referred to the late division in the Church, on the Slavery question:

Though the newspapers, with their usual tact in catering for the public, had given greater space to this than all the other acts of the Assembly, yet it had occupied but a small portion of the Session, only three and a half days in all.

From the first organization of the Church, the relation of master and slave had been thought a fit subject for its notice, and action had been taken in '93, '97, in 1805, and in 1818 a paper was passed taking the strongest ground ever assumed by the Assembly, and acquiesced in up to the time of the division of the Church.

Three times since the separation that action had been re-affirmed, and on this basis every Southern and four-fifths of the Northern synods were formed. Every man knew, or ought to have known, that the church condemned the sin of slavery—regarded it as full of evil, and worked for its removal.

If the brethren of the South had remained true to this position, the Church would have earnestly expected, in God's good time, the entire extirpation of this evil. But a new Southern doctrine grew up, and members declared that they held slaves from choice and—for gain—that Slavery was in accordance with the word of God, and invited the Church to discipline them for it if they saw proper. This action shocked hundreds of conservative men—the speaker for one, and nobody would call him an abolitionist.

This apostacy demanded some decided action, for some declaration by the Assembly in regard to its position. Many Northern men (and the speaker was one of them) had supposed only a few Southern men were tinctured with this error, but to their utter astonishment a large majority of the Southern delegates put forth a manifesto, evidently designed to force the assembly to recognize their views or to take some action that would cut them off.

The debate on the subject was conducted in a christian spirit; it was high, pure, and earnest, but characterized by no bitterness or party spirit; the political aspect of slavery was not even alluded to, and on the final vote, men of the three political parties stood side by side, and united in the same vote. The paper adopted took no new ground, but simply declared where the church had always stood, and where; (I believe, said the speaker,) she always means to stand.

No man away from the scene of action—no church even was capable of judging of this action, and to the older members of his church he would say, that although knowing well their conversation—their aversion to agitation to isms of every kind and their great desire for peace, and their bitter dislike of everlasting agitation, that every one of them to a man—had they been there, would have taken part with the majority, and finally have thanked God that they had the opportunity to do so.

He too, was opposed to agitation, but there were proper and fit occasions to bear testimony and this was one of them, and the Assembly was the proper body to do it.

Dr. Ross, the champion of "Calhounism in the Bible," appears before the public in a letter to Dr. Boyd, in which he makes the following developments. Who does not pity Dr. Rice as Ross describes him?

Cleveland, June 5, 1857.

Rev. A. H. H. Boyd, D. D.—I had a call, yesterday, from Rev. Dr. ———, of this city. He disclosed to me a fact which helps to lift the veil from our future. He told me that many of the Old School, North, have written to him, that they are prepared to join the New School General Assembly, so soon as that body is relieved from slavery! The development, then, of coming events, is clearly to be this:

1. The New School, South, have now clearly defined the true Southern position; and therefore sooner or later, all the real South will occupy that ground—the Old School as certainly as the New School.

2. That fact being fully revealed, the ultra Old School North will secede. They will secede, because they are not strong enough to excind their Old School South. They will secede, then, and join the New School Assembly, now freed from slavery.

3. The New School Assembly, with this ultra Old School element, all the more intense for being so long pent up, will become too offensive to permit our Philadelphia and other conservative men, to remain in it. What then? Why—

4. A General Assembly, or other organization, will be formed, based upon eschewing the slavery question, will be the final result. In it will be all the South, standing upon the Scripture ground, as now more clearly understood, having with them very many of the North, who will have been gradually brought to the same position, or, if not, yet holding cordial fellowship with those who do thus believe.

Rev. Dr. N. L. Rice, of St. Louis, Missouri, will announce the position taken by the Southern delegates at Cleveland, and he will use every art to prevent his Old School South from taking it; for he knows that if they do take it, the consummation stated above is a mere question of time. Yea, he knows that that issue must come, from the irresistible law of the present unfolding of things.

The Dr. represents me to be excitable and eccentric; hence he affects alarm at my views of slavery. I plead guilty to the vitality. My eye is not dimmed, nor my natural force abated. I may be eccentric too; but I promise the Dr. he will find me sufficiently concentric, before the slavery question is settled. The following has some concentricity:

He (Dr. Rice) is a Colossus, who has been, and is, standing astride the Mississippi. But now, that great water, under the recent Abolition rain, extending from the Rocky Mountains to Cleveland, Ohio, is widening astonishingly; and the Dr. will presently find his legs stretching apart so disagreeably, that he can't continue to keep his feet on both sides of the river. What will he do? He won't be willing to be split in two; he won't consent to be tumbled into the river, when his legs can't be stretched apart any farther. What then? Why, he must (supposing him looking down stream) either lift up his right leg, and place his whole person on soil now free, and be wholly what he now is as to one leg, viz: an Abolitionist; or he must draw the left limb over, and have both his feet on the anticipated free soil of Missouri, and be an Abolitionist after a day or so. This is Dr. Rice's present and future.

Heavy Defalcation.

[From the Cincinnati Gazette, Monday.]

We received on Saturday evening a dispatch, stating that W. H. Gibson, Treasurer of State, had resigned his office, and that a deficit of $550,000 was found to exist in the Treasury. This intelligence, astounding as it may appear, does not surprise us. We expected it. It was well known that at the time J. G. Breslin, the late Democratic Treasurer, succeeded a relative of his in the Treasury Department, the accounts were not correct. There was then, we believe, a deficit, but the office being in the family, the difficulty was not exposed. During Breslin's term the deficit was largely increased. He was succeeded by another relative, W. H. Gibson, a Republican, who undertook to shoulder Breslin's burden. The deficit at the time the latter went out of office, was, it is said, equal to the amount now reported. It was Gibson's duty to have exposed this, but the family connection prevented him from doing his duty. Breslin, it is said, promised to make good the account, and Gibson, we are told, lived in hopes that his relative would prove equal to his promise. But Breslin failed to furnish the missing money, and Gibson has been finally compelled to show his hand. This money was stolen by Democrats, and much of it was used by "Democratic Insurance Offices;" yet the organs of the Locofoco party have the assurance to howl over the occurrence as an evidence of Republican corruption.

Great Excitement in San Antonio, Texas—Desperate Fight with Robbers.—The San Antonio (Texas) papers of the 30th instant are filled with the most exciting accounts of a recent dreadful encounter with a band of ruffians in that city, during which five persons were killed and one wounded. As our readers well know, there has been, for a long time past, a desperate gang of thieves, robbers and housebreakers hanging about San Antonio, whose repeated villainies we have almost weekly recorded. On the night of the 29th, it seems, a horrible murder was committed but a few miles below the town. The wife of one Mr. Garza was killed in her own house by some seven or eight assassins, and the house then robbed of money and valuables. A reward of $500 was offered next morning for the apprehension of the murderers, and Sheriff Henry, with a posse, hastened to the place of the bloody scene. The Times, of the 30th ult., adds:

About 12 o'clock a gang of some dozen desperadoes had collected in the city on the west side of the river, many of them in a darkened room, as a sort of resort for the moment. Here the shooting commenced between the desperadoes, and some three or four citizens. Fielstrop killed one of the desperadoes, and was shot through the head by another.

At this awful juncture, Jim Taylor, than whom a braver man never lived, gave orders to some three of his comrades to follow him—and at the same moment he broke through the window into the darkened room. As he entered, Bill Hart, a desperate character, shot him through the breast, and at the same moment a gun was pointed at Bill Hart by another person, when Taylor exclaimed; "he has shot me, let me shoot him," and fired. Both fell. Citizens commenced rushing in well armed, as well as many of the desperadoes, and the shooting became general. The gang of rowdies broke from the room for a back door; many of them who came up after the melee commenced, immediately fled—finding that they were coming to close quarters.

By this time at least some three hundred citizens had collected, all well armed—for it was well known that this gang of ruffians [illegible] Taylor may recover.

At this stage of affairs, the city authorities commanded the multitude to disperse, and they immediately obeyed the command.

ANOTHER FUGITIVE SLAVE CASE.

A SANGUINARY RENCOUNTER.

A United States Deputy Marshal Severely Stabbed and one of the Slaves Shot!

[From the Cincinnati Gazette, Monday.]

Week before last, two slaves, man and wife, named Irwin and Angeline Broaddus, the property of Colonel C. A. Withers, a well known resident of Covington, Ky., and the Superintendent of the Covington & Lexington Railway, escaped from their master, and were not heard of until intelligence was received last Friday that they were hidden somewhere in this city. United States Deputy Marshals Churchill, Anderson, Woodward, Elliott, Lowe and Carty, were on the alert, and on Saturday morning learned that the slaves were concealed in room No. 18, in the fifth story of Judge Taft's building, on Vine street, just above Fourth. The first story of this building is occupied by Bly's Phrenological Bookstore, and Duncan & Innes's periodical establishment; the second by Judge Piatt and others as law offices, and the upper stories are let as lodging rooms, in one of which, rented and used by Wm. M. Connelly, for some months past a local reporter for the Daily Commercial of this city, the negroes were secreted.

To this apartment the U. S. Marshal proceeded, and found No. 18 locked. After knocking at the door and obtaining no answer, one of the posse, John C. Elliott, climbed up and peeped through the transom, and said the negroes must be inside, for he saw their dinner, (a number of dishes containing food were on a table in the apartment). He then crept partly through the aperture over the door, and exclaimed, "Here they are!" (the negroes, it seems, were in a small apartment adjoining the main one,) and immediately after half fell and half leaped back, saying he was stabbed.

At this moment the door was burst open, revealing the negro armed with a sword-cane, and a pistol was fired by one of the party, wounding the slave, who fell to the floor. He was immediately leaped upon by the Marshals, and though he made a stout resistance, was disarmed and bound.

The wound of the Marshal is in the left breast, just above the heart, and of the negro in the abdomen. Both of them are seriously injured, and it was thought, on Saturday, they would die; but at a late hour last night they were improving, and the probability is they would recover.

The slaves were taken back to Covington without the least opposition, after a satisfactory hearing of the case before U. S. Commissioner Newkirk, by whom a warrant was issued for the arrest of Connelly, who has not been seen in the city since Friday night. Several U. S. Marshals went in pursuit of him on Saturday evening—with what success has not yet been learned.

The Cleveland Leader has a report of the execution at Toledo, on Friday last, of R. J. M. Ward, who killed his wife and burned her body in February last, in the village of Sylvania, near Toledo. It appears that he made a complete confession to one of his counsel, Mr. Fuller, wherein he acknowledged not only the killing of his wife deliberately and with premeditation, but the murder of two other persons, many years since; the first, a store-keeper named Hall, at Richland, Ohio, whom he murdered on the eve of his (Hall's) departure for New York, supposing him to have in his possession a considerable amount of money. The second, a pedlar, at Richland, who had stopped with Ward, who was then keeping a tavern, for the night. For these murders he was not arrested, although suspicion fell upon him. The woman to whom he was married at the time of his first murder, was so sure of his guilt, that she became insane under the tormenting thoughts such knowledge created, and is now an inmate of a lunatic asylum.

APPEARANCE OF WARD ON THE SCAFFOLD.

Something like an hour passed in getting the prisoner ready, during which he grew extremely excited—his pulse beating at the rate of 130 per minute. At precisely 11 o'clock, he was conducted from his cell to the scaffold by his religious advisers, two Catholic priests, and seated on a chair directly under the rope. His step was not very firm, and his face changed color rapidly. He was habited in a robe of white, with a belt around the waist, white pants, gloves, and dove-colored slippers. A cross hung from his neck suspended by a black cord, and he held another cross in his hands. He was a man of large size, broad high forehead, somewhat bald, shaved clean on the face, save a large goatee.

HIS REMARKS ON THE SCAFFOLD.

He said—"Gentlemen, I am guilty of but one crime—that confession is not true—I am going to leave the world with a clear conscience—I never murdered but one person. Is Mr. Fuller here?" (Fuller is the gentleman who took down his confession and had it printed.) On being told that Mr. F. was not present, he continued:—"I am sorry for him; that confession is not true; throws more crime on me than I am able to hold up. You are about to launch me into eternity (to the Sheriff); you are pretty good looking men, all of you (to the audience). I hope you have a good feeling for me. I have no hard feelings for any one on this great earth. I want to leave this world in peace. God can help me. I have made my peace with him." (Here he repeated a Catholic prayer, "Oh, Holy Mary, mother of God," etc.) "I think I stand it pretty well, considering. I would like some one to pray for me."

Here he clasped his hands, and repeated the Lord's prayer; after finishing which he repeated—"I believe in God the Father," &c.

It has been wondered how I became a Catholic. It was because I had more faith in them than in any other church—they came to me more genteel—they didn't want me to confess to what I didn't commit. Doctors and Ministers of this town wanted me to confess that I killed two men. I am not going out of the world with a lie in my mouth. I have told you all I can recollect—and if I had committed other murders I think I would remember them—one don't forget such things.—I have been decent all my life—never stole ten dollars, five dollars, one dollar, nor fifty cents—never murdered and robbed a man. I think my heart is good—at least I think so. I have confessed my sins—have made my peace with God—am not afraid to sit here. A man who will kill his wife and burn her up—its horrible. (Here he beat his breast with his hands.) I have killed her because I did not want anybody else to have her. I made up my mind, that if I could not have her, nobody else should.

Here the priest held the crucifix before him, telling him to cast his eyes on the cross, &c.—He dropped his head on the priest's shoulder, while that official talked and prayed with him. In a few minutes he raised his head, and resumed his remarks, in a somewhat livelier tone occasionally trying to be jocular.

"I have no property but my body, and that I have given to the preachers, and my soul to God. Pretty good hands to give them to—I hope you may do as well."

Taking hold of the rope, he remarked to the sheriff that it was rather short. "Gentlemen," said he, "you see that I am not afraid to leave this world, don't you?" Here again he said the Lord's prayer, stammered, shut his eyes, murmured "Holy Mary, Mother of God, &c., I believe in God, and Christ, who descended into hell, on the third he rose again and sits in Heaven at the right hand of Almighty God," &c. "May the Almighty God give me pardon and absolution for all my sins—my God! my G!—I am dying—amen."

Here they raised him to his feet, but it was some time before he could stand. "I can't stand." He remarked. Then afterwards, "I bid you all good bye." Turning to some gentlemen who were near, he said, "I guess you don't have as much trouble with me as they did with that chap at Cleveland? Now, gentlemen, see me go." The sheriff prepared to pinion his arms, whereupon he said, "you need not tie my arms. I will never touch that rope." After another pause, "You might all shut your eyes when I go down—don't laugh."—These were the last words that he addressed to the spectators. The priest held the cross to his lips for him to kiss, which he did. After several minutes spent in prayer, by the prisoner and his religious attendants, the cap was pulled down over his eyes, and at five minutes before 12 M. he closed his career upon earth.

Two Young Women Drowned.—On Friday afternoon last, a party of gentlemen and ladies, from Cannon Falls, took a pleasure excursion on Crystal Lake, near that place. The party consisted of twelve persons. While they were sailing and enjoying themselves, a short distance from the shore, a storm suddenly arose, and, most of them being unskilled in the art of managing the sail, some of the company became frightened and jumped overboard, which caused the yacht to capsize, precipitating the whole company into the lake. Ten of the number succeeded in reaching the shore in safety; but we regret to learn that two intelligent young ladies—one named Miss Morgan, the other Miss Anna Robinson—were drowned. The sad spectacle was witnessed by a large number of interested spectators from the shore, who did all that lay in their power to prevent the catastrophe, and to rescue the drowning; but all their efforts were vain.—St. Paul Times, 12th.

Man Hung by a Vigilance Committee in Virginia.—Jefferson Randall, who had been sent from Rockingham county, Virginia, by a vigilance committee, for numerous alleged lawless acts, such as burning barns, robberies, and planning the assassination of certain prominent citizens of that county, returned there on Friday last. He was immediately arrested by the vigilance committee and held in custody [illegible]. The Richmond Dispatch states that Randall was a man of extraordinary physical strength [illegible]

Crossing the Plains.—We learn from the [illegible] (Mo.) [illegible], that emigration to California is greatly on the increase in that part of the State—[illegible] greater, if equalled, unless in the year 1851-52. As many as twenty wagons a week have passed through [illegible], this spring, bound for California, and it is thought that 1800 head of cattle have gone from that county, and twice as many from Greene.

The Rains—The Crops.—The overwhelming rains, which have fallen during the past week have been seriously injurious to the crops, which were before this deluge highly promising, though owing to the season, remarkably backward. The wheat, barley and rye are beaten down by the rains, and the wheat is attacked by smut, while the rust in its worst form may be apprehended. Then, this is the very time when the grain of the wheat should fill, that is receive its substance from the earth and air, the "manifest destiny" of which is to be converted into flour; and the soaking rains cause the precious milk, which should be transmitted into our daily bread, to go to straw. The corn is alarmingly behind time. The harvest moon is at hand and the corn-fields should be thoroughly worked; but the stalks are so slight that the plough is not to be used. When the wheat turns yellow, the corn should equal it in height; but now it is scarcely visible, and the dashing rains by hardening the ground give it but a poor chance to grow.—Cin. Com. 15th.

A Great Country.—Jefferson Davis, in his late speech at Jackson, Miss., mentioned, as an illustration of the vastness of our national domain, the fact that during the four years of the late administration, more land was ceded by the general government for internal improvements and other legitimate purposes, than a third of France, and we still retain a public domain equal to the half area of Europe!

Des Moines Railroad.—Yesterday the first passenger train on the Des Moines Railroad ran through to Farmington. The stockholders of this city, and as many other citizens and strangers as could be accommodated, were invited to go up, and participate in the celebration which had been arranged by the good people of our neighboring town on the occasion of their connection with us by rail.—Keokuk Gate City, 13th.

JAMES ADAMS, No. 40 Hudson street, New York, Near the Railroad Depot.

TO THE CITIZENS OF THE UNITED STATES.—CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.—After several years experimenting in the manufacturing of Gin, I fortunately succeeded, in the year 1837 in making a discovery in its manufacture by which it was deprived of acrid and inflammatory properties, and rendered perfectly pure.

My manufactory is at Schiedam, Holland. After several months' reflection what title to give it, I introduced it to the American public under the name of "Wolfe's Schiedam Aromatic Schnapps." Schiedam is the name of the place in Holland where the Gin is manufactured. Aromatic derives its name from the Italian Juniper Berry with which it is flavored, and the word "Schnapps" is the German for drink—Cognac, Dram—Wolfe's Schiedam Aromatic Drink. No sooner had my Schnapps been introduced to the American public and received with approbation, than the liquor mixers of New York, Boston and Philadelphia, started in pursuit with their mixed and poisonous stuff under various names: Schiedam Gin, Schiedam Schnapps, London Club House Gin, London Cordial Gin, &c., and in several cases my labels have been so perfectly imitated, with only the addition of a few letters to plead a technical avoidance of the law, and so carefully prepared as to impose on careless purchasers. I understand a large quantity has been purchased by the merchants of the Eastern States on account of the cheapness of the articles, a merchant who participates indirectly in the fraud by selling the spurious articles, is as much an offender as the principal who planned the imposition.

I hope every respectable citizen who values the health of the community in which he lives will aid me in ferreting out and exposing the unscrupulous merchant, who, for the sake of a few cents, will put in jeopardy the lives of the community to which he lives. Such men should be nailed to the pillory for popular execration.

WOLFE'S SCHIEDAM AROMATIC SCHNAPPS is made from Barley of the first quality, selected with great care from the products of the most celebrated grain-growing districts, is flavored with the essence of the aromatic Juniper Berry of Italy, and is rectified by a peculiar process, which frees it from all acrid and fusil oils. As a means of preventing and correcting the disagreeable and often dangerous effects produced upon the stomach and bowels by a change of water—a visitation to which travelers and soldiers, and all emigrants to the West, the South and South-west are peculiarly liable—the Schnapps is infallible; while, in cases of dropsy, gravel, obstructions of the kidneys, diseases of the bladder, dyspepsia, and general debility, it is recommended most emphatically by the most distinguished members of the medical profession.

It is put up in quart and pint bottles, in cases of one dozen with the name of the undersigned on the bottle and cork, and a fac-simile of his signature on the label.

For sale by all respectable druggists and country merchants. UDOLPHO WOLFE, 22 Beaver street, New York.

For sale by J. H. Reed & Co., Turrell & Haven, Whittaker & Bros., R. V. Ready & Co., Geo. Dodge & Co., A. M. Moose & Co.

HAIR DYE—HAIR DYE—HAIR DYE.—W. A. BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.—Gray, red or rusty hair dyed instantly to a beautiful and natural Brown or Black, without the least injury to hair or skin.

FIFTEEN MEDALS AND DIPLOMAS have been awarded to Wm. A. Batchelor since 1839, and over 80,000 applications have been made to the hair of his patrons of his famous Dye. Prejudice against dyeing the Hair and Whiskers is as unjust as it would be against covering a bald head with a wig.

WM. A. BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE produces a color not to be distinguished from nature, and is warranted not to injure in the least, however long it may be continued.

Sold in all cities and towns of the United States, by Druggists and Fancy Goods Dealers.

The genuine has the name and address upon a steel plate engraving on four sides of each bottle, of WILLIAM A. BATCHELOR, 233 Broadway, New York.

IMPORTANT TO FEMALES.—DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS.—The combinations of ingredients in these Pills are the result of a long and extensive practice. They are mild in their operation, and certain in correcting all irregularities, painful menstruation, removing all obstructions, whether from cold or otherwise, headache, pain in the side, palpitation of the heart, disturbed sleep, which always arise from interruptions of nature. They can be successfully used as a preventive. These pills should never be taken in pregnancy, as they would be sure to cause a miscarriage. Warranted purely vegetable, and free from anything injurious to life or health. Explicit directions, which should be read, accompany each box. Price $1. For sale by C. V. Clickener & Co., No. 81 Barclay street, New York; Penton, Fisher & Co., 34 Lake street; and Fenton, & Robinson, 15 South Water street, Chicago.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE.—This great chemical discovery has taken precedence over every other preparation for changing the color of the Hair. The public have realized by experience the important fact, that while it imparts the most perfect and natural black or brown, it does not impair the softness and elasticity or arrest the growth of the hair. Free from all caustic ingredients, it neither stains the skin of the head, dries up the moisture circulating through the fibres, nor emits any unpleasant odor. Its application is given and finished in ten minutes, in any weather, and the rich natural hue imparted to the hair of the head, the whiskers and moustaches is uniform to a shade in every filament. Hence its popularity, and the wonderful rapidity with which it has superseded other dyes, throughout the United States.

DAILY TRIBUNE.

WEDNESDAY MORNING........JUNE 17.

Old Hunx on Dry Goods.

NO. ONE.

Young Mrs Baintry, queen of the ball,
Whose elegant bust was the wonder of all,
Sailing up to old Hunx besought him to tell
What he thought the most appropriate dress for a belle!
"Ah, ma belle dame, that my tastes were your laws!
I'd rather see you in invisible gauze!"

NO. TWO.

As a naiad surprised when the satyrs behold her!
For Baintry warned her that Hunx the old reality,
Wouldn't refrain from a slap at her nudity.
Crimsoned with shame but with fierce self-possession,
She retorted—"Old Hunx, you're as rude as a Hessian!
I really believe you'd make it your duty
To ridicule truth, were no gauze on her beauty!
'Honi soit' etc, I'm sure you remember;
Though what's gathered in June may be gone in December!"
Said Old Hunx—"Well, that's so!—when younger and smarter
I believe I did read it on somebody's garter!
Then a sweet little stocking was all that stole
Peace from the quiet of a bachelor's soul;
But now-a-days fashion, with top sails all furled,
Shows pretty much all she's got in the world!
Though a belle in the boudoir looks charming in no thing,
She looks better here, in a little more clothing!"

[Boston Post.

Ida Pfeiffer again Circumambulating the Globe.

This lady, whose fame as a traveler is world-wide, was at last accounts at Mauritius, where she was the guest of a merchant named Lambert, with whom she contemplated visiting Madagascar about the beginning of April. Some two years ago Mr. Lambert paid a visit to Queen Ravantio, in Madagascar, and was well received by her dusky majesty.

The Island of Madagascar, with a population of only 4,500,000, is scarcely inferior in extent to all Germany. The inhabitants are a mongrel race, composed of Malays, Arabians, Kaffirs and negroes. The climate is hot and unhealthy, and generally fatal to Europeans; the soil, however, is very fruitful. The island is divided into four states, the most important of which is that of the Malgashes. Frequent attempts have been made to establish European colonies upon the island—in 1642, 1665, 1768 and 1819—but they all resulted disastrously. In 1835 all traces of Christianity were destroyed, and in 1845 all the Europeans on the island were obliged to leave or become naturalized. Europeans who enter upon the territory of the Malgashes are either put to death or enslaved.

Although Queen Ravantio can by no means be considered the most cruel of the rulers of Madagascar, yet it must be confessed that Madame Pfeiffer's adventures may, by her visit to this island be brought to a sudden termination.—N. Y. Post.

The Spiritual $50 Bet.

The spiritual controversy in Boston waxes hot and interesting. Willis, the student expelled from Harvard University, as a humbugger, has found a host of champions who insist that the marvels which are executed in his presence, are through supernatural agency. Prof. Felton offers $500 for a demonstration of the alleged power of "spirits" to move tables, play musical instruments, etc., independent of carnal or obviously physical agencies. The N. Y. Tribune says it holds that this position is a remarkably fair one, and that the spiritualists must lose ground if they fail to meet it triumphantly. It may be very true that the designated judges are prejudiced against the spiritual hypothesis—it may be that they would not by persuaded though one rose from the dead—it may be that their stubborn skepticism, or some of the conditions which will be exacted on the sceptical side, will obstruct the so called manifestations; but if Prof. Agassiz and his associates are not forced to admit that tables, &c., are moved, by some power unknown to their philosophy, then the star of spiritualism will grow dim in and the city of notions. The spiritualists must come up to the scratch, or say no more. Let them show a committee of sharp sighted, scientific men that tables are moved and musical instruments played—in day light, where the mediums can have no contact with them, and where there will be nothing to prevent a clear look into the operation—by some power viewless and unaccountable when the spiritualist hypothesis is accepted, and there will be a basis of fact to talk about.

The Telegraph News Burlesqued.

The Buffalo Republic gives the following as specimens of much of what is called "news," that is sent from the East by telegraph to the papers:

WASHINGTON, June 3.—New Orleans papers are received, but contain nothing.

The festivities at Lord Napier's continued up till two o'clock this morning. In addition to the distinguished gentlemen mentioned in last night's dispatch, were the Secretaries of War and Navy, the latter dressed in their "store clothes."

A heavy stock operator was attacked on 'Change with a sudden diarrhoea, this A. M. Erie fell off ⅛th in consequence.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—New Orleans mails of 29th received this morning. The barque Mary Cobb sailed in on ballast.

ALBANY, June 3.—John Jones, a boarder at the Orange Hotel, was found dead in his bed this morning. He was suffocated, it was supposed, and died for want of breath. We do not learn that it affected the stocks.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The mail train from the South ran off the track on the Alexandria road last night. No lives lost.

Col. Benton was a passenger on the Illinois Central Railroad one day last week.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The President's toe nail is seriously growing into the flesh.

She Couldn't Elope.

A young lady of Cincinnati—pretty and interesting of course—requested a private interview with her papa, in his library, one day last week, and told him that she had fixed her affections upon a gentleman whom she knew he would be unwilling she should wed; but without whom she could not and would not live.

Papa requested the name of the gentleman who had won his daughter's heart; but she, going into dramatic attitudes, declared she felt assured he would not give his consent, but fate had united them in soul; that the heliotrope of her existence must ever turn to the sun of his love; that the harmony of earth and heaven would be marred if two adoring spirits were divided; if the divine stream of their life did not unite, and flow through the vale of time, clear, light, and beautiful.

"But who—who is he? Pray tell me," interposed the father.

The name was given; and the parent, without a moment's consideration, consented to the union.

The daughter then burst into a Medean storm of seeming grief, which very naturally astonished her parent.

"Why, what ails you, my dear child? Have I not granted your wish? I am perfectly willing you should marry him you love. What more can I do?"

Sighs, tears, groans and wringing of hands were the only answer.

"Tell me, my darling, why you are wretched? Have I not given my consent?"

"Yes, yes, (sobbing violently)—but—but—"

"But what?"

"Why, now, now—I can't—"

"Speak out, my child—what is it?"

"I can't—(with a great deal of emotion)—I cant. Oh, dear father—I am wretched; for now—I can't elope?"

Mixed Grammar.

A great many people find much difficulty in saying what they mean—as much, perhaps, as some editors find in meaning what they say. A certain witness, in an assault and battery suit, we once heard mix things up considerably, in giving his account of the affair. After relating how Dennis came up to him and struck him, he proceeded:

"So, yer honor, I just hauled off and wiped his jaw. Just then his dog cum along, and I hit him again, and dropped him."

"Hit the dog?"

"No, yer honor, hit Dennis. And then I up wid a stun and throwed it at him, and it rolled him over and over."

"Threw a stone at Dennis?"

"At the dog, yer honor. And he got up and hit me again."

"The dog?"

"No, Dennis. And wid that he stuck his tail betwixt his legs and run off."

"Dennis?"

"No, the dog. And when he came back at me, he got me down and pounded me, yer honor."

"The dog came back at you?"

"No, Dennis, yer honor, and that's all I did to him, yer honor, and he isn't hurt any at all."

"Who isn't hurt?"

"The dog, yer honor."

A BOY KILLED BY LEECHES.—At the village of Montigny le Mare, near Paris, M. Lanquie, a druggist, lately established a nursery of leeches for medical purposes, in a marsh or pond, where he was accustomed to feed them by driving an old worn out horse, purchased of a knacker's yard, every morning into the muddy water, and allowing the leeches to fix and gorge themselves with blood at the expense of the horse's legs. His son, a boy of thirteen, used to ride the horse into the pond; but, a few days ago, the boy having gone alone upon that errand, the family were terrified by the horse coming back without its rider; its legs were bleeding profusely and covered with leeches that stuck to their prey. People went to the pond to look for the child, and found him immersed there struggling feebly to extricate himself from the mire, and to defend himself from the hundreds of voracious creatures which had crawled under his clothes (for he wore no shoes or stockings), and had fixed upon every part of his body. He had probably been thrown off the horse's back by the restlessness of the tormented animal. The poor boy was quite exhausted and speechless when he was got out and died in a few hours.

AN INFANT KIDNAPPED.—The New York Sun relates a strange incident, which occurred in that city about twilight on Tuesday evening:

"A little daughter of Mr. George Roth, No. 75 Avenue A, was sitting at the door with her little brother, a babe eight months old, in her arms, when a woman stepped up and asked the little girl to go to a baker's shop and buy and purchase half a pound of crackers, and she would hold the child meantime. The girl did so, but on returning found that the woman had gone and taken the child with her. No tidings have since been obtained of either woman or child."

Spain.

A NAIL OF THE TRUE CROSS.—A Spanish paper says: "Yesterday, at five in the afternoon, took place in the Royal apartments the ceremony of placing the nail possessed by the Chapel Royal—one of those which suspended Jesus Christ—in the magnificent and unequaled reliquary that Her Majesty the Queen has had constructed to replace that which was stolen when, on the 27th of May of last year, the most holy nail disappeared. The ceremony commenced by the benediction of the reliquary by the Patriarch of the Indies. The reliquary being afterward placed in the oratory of the same Royal habitation, the Patriarch returned to the chapel, and, with all the clergy and music of the same, conducted the holy nail in procession to the Royal apartment, where their Majesties, with her Royal Highness the Princess of the Asturias and the Infanta Dona Christiana, were waiting upon their knees with the chief officers of the Palace, etc. The music played the prayers which the Church possesses even for such unusual cases as this, and, the procession having reached the Royal chamber, the holy nail was placed in the new reliquary, and the officiating divine offered for adoration this inestimable instrument of our redemption, their Majesties adoring it first. Many persons of those present in the chapel also adored it, and it was subsequently deposited in the sacred place where it is to be preserved, for the greater honor and glory of God."

THE PRINCESS ROYAL'S MARRIAGE.—About the most interesting item of foreign news is the vote in the British Parliament for the endowment of the Princess Royal. She is to have $200,000 down and $40,000 a year; a dowry which is valued at the round sum of $1,000,000. This will support her and her Prussian husband in a very comfortable manner at Berlin, where their lodging costs them nothing, and the State pays for servants, &c.

The European Princes of this generation are quite fortunate in having so many English Princesses to marry. In the time of the Georges there was somehow a prejudice against the exceedingly unamiable family of Brunswick, and several Princesses of the house went to their graves in single blessedness, or endowed their family with subjects born in delightful sin. The excellent character of Queen Victoria seems to have removed the prejudice, while the gradual impoverishment of the European nobility has imparted a new charm to the English Princesses, who are always treated with uncommon liberality by the faithful Commons. It is not doubtful but the remaining Princesses will have a multitude of suitors.

SHAKSPEARE'S BIRTHPLACE.—The London Art Journal says: "It will startle many to learn that arrangements are in progress for covering with glass, or rather for putting into a huge glass case, the house in which Shakspeare was born, at Stratford-on Avon. The houses on both sides have been taken down, and the monument now stands alone. The object of this course is to protect the house against the effects of the weather, and the further influence of time.

Decency is a matter of latitude. In Turkey a man with tight pants on is considered so great a vulgarian that he is not tolerated in respectable society. To spit in the presence of an Arab is to make the acquaintance of a cheese knife. In Russia a man is considered low who refuses a breakfast of fried candles. In this country vulgar people are such as keep good hours and live within their income.

A friend attended one of the New York up town fashionable churches last Sunday. We have since learned from him that the text was, "He that hath ears to hear, let him hear," which the preacher rendered, "he that hath yahs to yah, let him yah."

"Jimmy, are your folks all well?"
"Yes, ma'am, all but Sally Ann."
"What's the matter with her?"
"O, nothin' particular—only she had the hoopin' cough once, and she haint never got over it. The cough ain't any account now, but she has the hoop desperate."

Prof. Henry, of the Smithsonian Institute, states that men and animals are principally composed of solidified air. A fellow on our right asks, "If this be so, is not every man a bag of wind?"

At a christening, while the minister was making out the certificate, he happened to say—"Let me see—this is the thirtieth!" The thirtieth!" exclaimed the indignant mother, "indeed, its only the eleventh!"
